FOR PRESIDENT,
BENJAMIN HARRISON,
Of Indiana.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
LEVI P. MORTON,
Of New York.

Saturday, October 13, 1888

THE Senate authorized the statement that the President is withholding information to which the Upper House of Congress is entitled regarding the rejection of the Chinese Treaty. His action is attributed to political policy and fear of the effect of the publication upon Democratic prospects on the Pacific Coast. The Bulletin says: No publication could do the Administration so much harm as the suspicion that it dare not let the public know what it has been doing. It is well understood that its course has been weak and shifty on this subject; now the Senate and the people wait to know what lies behind. If information is refused, they will draw their own inferences.

THERE is strong opposition among the New Jersey Democrats to the free trade policy of President Cleveland, and the latest advice from that State is that not only are the Republicans confident of victory in November, but the Democrats there are getting in a state of panic. In this connection the Newark Journal, one of the ablest Democratic papers in the State, says that something must be done to restore harmony and arouse some enthusiasm, or the Democratic jig is up.

GENERAL HARRISON punctured a thin spot with Free Trade argument the other day. He quoted from Mr. Mills to the effect that nothing radical in the way of reduction was intended by his party, and then asked why, if a small reduction of the tariff was to be such a great boon to the workingman, why not make a big reduction, and make a great whooping big boom and boom? Mr. Harrison should remember that just in this spot the Democratic ice is very thin.

It has been the policy of Democratic journals and orators to belittle the ability of General Harrison ever since he was nominated, but it is a noticeable fact that every day in this campaign develops his capacity as a leader and his popularity as a candidate, and demonstrates his ability to be a great service to the country as a President.

THE Democratic National Committee or some person or persons in its employ is believed to be forging the names of Congressmen to the campaign documents they are sending out. Congressman S. S. Cox says that his name, which was attached to such documents, is a forgery.

THERE is a difference of only about twenty millions of dollars between the statement of President Cleveland and that of his Secretary of the Treasury concerning the amount of the surplus. But the Administration does not work it into a free over trifles.

FROM every section of the country come expressions of approval of General Harrison as a candidate and as a statesman. There isn't the slightest indication of Republican defection—not the slightest. Such a condition of things is almost unprecedented.

POLITICAL pointers; some distance after the Catechism: Name the three greatest speech-makers of modern politics: Lincoln, Blaine and Harrison. What were their great themes? The Union, Protection and Home.

THE popularity of Kimball, the Republican candidate for Governor in Missouri, has added greatly to the strength of the party in that State, and the St. Louis Globe-Democrat believes the Democracy will be beaten.

"TIPPECANOE" HARRISON was the candidate of the party that advocated $2 a day and roast beef for the workingman. History is repeating itself.

The formal conference of the National Democratic Executive Committee did not take place at New York Thursday as expected, but nearly all the committeemen are there in consultation.

Senator Platt on the Conspiracy Against Labor.

A Serious Riot at Macon, Mo.— A Mine Owner Killed— Miscellaneous.

Some Wholesome Truths.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—In the debate on the Senate Tariff bill Senator Platt referred to the conspiracy of the Administration and the Democratic party against labor. This conspiracy, he said, pervaded not a chapter merely, but a whole volume of American history. It had often seemed on the eve of victory, had often seemed to triumph, but in the hour of its seeming victory it had been beaten down and baffled and overthrown, now by the ballots of laboring men and again by their bullets on fiercely-contested fields. That conspiracy against labor had early obtained control of the Democratic party. Through the success of that party it hoped for the accomplishment of its purpose, and now it seemingly awaits but the re-election of Grover Cleveland to carry out its ruinous designs. It was, and always has been, a sectional conspiracy, and its name was free trade. Its chief conspirators had always had their home in the same section of the country. It started in South Carolina with Calhoun. Its desire had been twofold—first, to extend the Southern system where labor should be unpaid and ignorant, and second, to insinuate the Northern system, a system which encouraged intelligence, virtue, self-respect and respecting labor. The means by which this was to be accomplished was free trade. What he meant by free trade was not the closing of Custom-houses, but what all commercial nations meant by it—a system opposed to protection.

There was not a leading Democrat in the United States to-day in full communion with his party and enjoying the confidence of the Administration who dared to say that as was a protectionist. Whatever of protection sentiment and courage there had been in any leading Democrat had been crushed out under the iron heel of the Administration. If by the means the Democrats were now employing, by the deception which they were now using, by the imposture by which they were now attempting to secure the votes of the laboring men of the North, Grover Cleveland should be re-elected, these men would rise in their might once more and put down free trade and demand protection; but it would be a sad experience for them to go through.

He mentioned as one of the saddest incidents in American history the party ostracism of Randall and his defeat for the Speakership because he was a protectionist, and he said that a Protectionist could no more be elected Speaker of a Democratic House of Representatives than he could be translated to heaven. It had been necessary to win the President over to the plan of conspiracy. He had been won over, and the bait with which he had been captured was the promise of a renomination, which he had pledged himself not to accept. Randall was a power in the State of Pennsylvania; but Randall had to be stripped of his power. It was necessary to degrade him, or the free trade conspiracy could not prevail.

The efforts of the President's best friend, Wm. L. Scott, has been exerted to destroy Randall's influence with the State Democratic Committee, and he had done so by means which, if its secrets were known, would shock even the Democratic party. Every follower of Randall in the house of Representatives had been given to understand that the price of Presidential favor was a vote for the Mills' bill. That bill had been concocted by conspirators in the dark. Votes had been purchased for it by yielding partial protection to articles from which it had been withdrawn. Men who had been elected by Protectionist constitutions had been coaxed, threatened and drilled into its support by the administration.

A vote had been taken and only four Democrats had voted with Randall against it. Four had been "faithful among the faithless found." One of them, Cowden of Pennsylvania, had been beaten for renomination by the influence of the friend of the Administration.

Black and White Train.

DEADWOOD, D. T., October 12.—The pay car on the Black Hills and Fort Pierre railroad was held up this forenoon by three masked men for the purpose of securing the money on board for the pay of the men. Dick Blackstone, chief engineer of the road, was on the train, accompanied by W. F. Reimer, clerk of the Homestake Company, and a Christ Blackstone. The party opened fire on the robbers, and shot one in the breast, who was secured. He is now in Deadwood Jail. One robber escaped. The other is supposed to be dead in the brush. His mask was found covered with blood. Two of his horses were captured and two guns. The Sheriff and posse are scouring the vicinity for the escaped robber. He cannot escape. The captured robber's name is Wilson, and he is the same party who stood off the Deputy Sheriff some time ago in Bare Butte Valley when he was about to serve a warrant on him, by drawing two revolvers and defying him.

A Mine Owner Killed.
KANSAS CITY, Oct. 12.—A special from Macon, Mo., reports a big riot at the Beaver mine. Thomas Wardell, a wealthy operator, was killed.

Nearly all of the mine owners have engaged new men, and these have been coming in from abroad for several days. This action of the operators greatly incensed the strikers, who have been bitter in their expressions against their former employers, especially Wardell. To-day the new men were set upon by the strikers, and a general battle followed. During the riot Wardell was killed. There is intense excitement at Beaver, and fears are entertained of further bloodshed. The Sheriff and posse have gone to Beaver.

"A Public Office is a Public Trust."
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The Senate, in executive session, has authorized the statement that two weeks ago that body, in executive session, passed a resolution calling on the President for all information in his possession regarding the rejection of the Chinese Treaty. Two weeks having elapsed, they now want the fact made known that the President is withholding information to which the Upper House of Congress is entitled, and the general belief is that the President has withheld information of importance on this subject because it would have an effect on the Pacific slope in the coming election.

The Wheat Market.
CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Wheat was very nervous this morning. December opened this morning at $1.17, after selling on the curb at $1.16 3/4. With scarcely an interruption it passed from $1.17 to $1.18 1/4, and fell again to $1.17 3/4. It jumped up again to $1.18, and then ran down as rapidly as it had gone up. It did not stop until it had touched $1.16. It was a puzzling market, and the crowd evidently did not like the looks of things. In the December option we are higher than any other market in the country.

A Thieving Watchman.
BUFFALO, Oct. 12.—A bushel of partly destroyed letters addressed to business firms in this city was found in the street this morning rifled of their contents. A New York draft for $250 was found in the street torn in two. Many letters were merely scorched. John Lockett, nightwatchman at the Postoffice, was arrested for the robbery while attempting to pass a check stolen from the mail. The thief tried to make a bonfire of the mail in the street last night after rifling the letters, but the rain extinguished it.

A Crooked Officer.
BOSTON, Oct. 12.—Inspector of Police Mountain was arrested last night on a charge of having received stolen property, and his arrest was made in connection with two others.

The Wilkes-Barre Disaster.
WILKESBARRE, Penn., Oct. 12.—The funeral train, containing fifty-seven bodies of the dead victims of the disaster at Mud Run, passed through Wilkes-Barre last evening. At Miner's Mill three bodies were taken off, at Pleasant Valley twenty-one, and the remainder went to Lackawanna. It is expected that the death list will be seventy, as many dangerous cases are now in the hospitals.

A Little War Talk.
MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—Minister of State Chapleau made a wild speech last night at a banquet to White, the new member for Cardwell, whom the Minister eulogized as a Blaine, and talked of war, surprising everybody. He spoke of Canada's coolness under existing circumstances, but he most pleased the representative audience by referring to Canadian defenses.

A Timber Thief Convicted.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—C. F. Beach, a heavy landowner of Humboldt county, was found guilty this afternoon of subornation of perjury in hiring paid men to swear to personal application for Government timber land in that county, which they afterwards turned over to him, whereby he became possessor of large tracts of land. Sentence was deferred.

Blossom Makes Another Sale.
The Battle Mountain Central Nevada says: J. A. Blossom has sold to an English company the Homestake group of mines, situated in Pittsburg Mining District of this county. This is the second sale our townsman has made, since going to England, of property in this vicinity. The Homestake is a silver mine of great value. Its present owners will immediately put a force of men to work developing the property and building a mill preparatory to the reduction of ores, of which there is a large amount in sight. This will be a help to the country and increase our population and wealth. Give us more English capital for the development of our mines, and we will prosper and grow wealthy.

THE CLOCK GAME.

Another Device for Halving People of Their Money.
 The following is a description of the game being played at Platt's Hall, San Francisco, where the police arrested 300 visitors: There is a square box, just large enough to receive cards the size of those used in banking games. On these cards are printed the names and prices of certain stocks. Several packs, shuffled by the bankers at and capped for the game, are then placed in the box. The cards are then disclosed singly, the bottom one always being the one exposed. The changes in prices are recorded upon a large blackboard, whereon the names of the stocks which represent names of mines are recorded.

The players at the game make a contract with the dealer for a certain stock, to either short it or buy it long. From the amount the player invests the dealer takes out 15 per cent. before the cards are placed in the box. This is the percentage of the game, which, it will be seen, has a "sure thing" whether the player wins or loses.

In Memoriam.
 To the C. P. Officers and Members of Reno Encampment, No. 5—SIS and PATRIARCHS: We, your committee appointed to draft suitable resolutions in memorial to the memory of our late Brother Patriarch, Isaac Frederick of this Encampment, would respectfully report the following:

Resolved, That while we bow with humble submission to the sad, but irresistible call which has removed from our fraternal circle our beloved Brother, we sincerely condole and sympathize with his surviving widow and children in their great and irreparable loss.

Resolved, That in the death of Patriarch Frederick, Odd Fellowship (and especially the Patriarchal branch of the Order) has lost one of its best and most exemplary members; the community one of its most upright and honored citizens, and his family a kind and affectionate husband and father.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, and that they be published in the Nevada State Journal, and that a copy of them with the seal of this Encampment affixed thereto, be presented to the family of our deceased Brother.

Some Good Advice.
 The New York Sun (Dem.) gives the President the following wholesome advice: "Better call in Don Dickinson, too, Brother Cleveland! He is as bad with his tongue as Vilas when he gets away from reasonable restraint and off into the frank and boundless West. We are glad to see the Cabinet on the stump. It is a mainly assembly of an inalienable right of every American citizen, even if he be an office-holder. But when the Cabinet gets on the stump at the West, it ought not to talk in such a way as to hurt the ticket at the East. Better stay in Washington!"

A Gravel Bonanza.
 The Auburn (Cal.) Republican says: The output of gold from the Breese & Wheeler mine at Bath, Placer county, during the past week has been something phenomenal even for that rich and steady mine. The working place is about one mile and a half from the entrance to the tunnel, and the breast is probably 40 feet wide and six feet high. The bulk of the gravel is richer than usual, while the bedrock is covered with coarse gold, some of it actually going as high as $1,000 to the pan. The Breese & Wheeler is just now the bonanza of California.

A Probable Label.
 The Idaho Statesman, probably edited by a soured old bachelor, is responsible for the following "chestnut": "A young lady in the north part of the city, when informed that a man had been drowned, said in hasty earnestness: 'Was he a young man?'"

Self-complacency settled upon her features when she learned that he was about 40, and she went on with her sweeping, gently humming:

"I want a man—
 I want a mansion in the skies."

Bob Ingersoll on Begging.
 I have known men who would trust their wives with their hearts and their honor, but not their pocket-books—not with a dollar. When I see a man of this kind I always think he knows which of these articles is most valuable. Think of making your wife a beggar! Think of her having to ask you every day for a dollar or two dollars, or for fifty cents. Think of having a wife who is afraid of you. What kind of children do you expect to have with a beggar and a coward for their mother?

A Fine Establishment.
 The bottling establishment of the Wieland-Brewing Company is fast building up a good trade. Under the able management of Mr. Francis, the business is constantly growing, and bids fair to become an important industry.
